

What is a fleet card?

How automatic fuel expense tracking saves you time and money

A fleet card provides:

CONVENIENCE

A fleet card is more than a credit card. Fleet cards provide businesses of all sizes with tools to track and manage spending, help reduce overall fuel costs, and manage fleets efficiently.

Universal Fleet Cards from WEX are accepted at 95% of U.S. gas stations and 45,000 maintenance locations.

The best fleet cards allow you to know where your money goes and capture detailed information on every purchase.

Fleet cards should offer account access across devices so you can manage your business from anywhere.

SAVINGS

Most fleet cards offer fuel rebates so you can save money per gallon at issuing brands. The more you drive, the more you save.

With a WEX Fleet Card, enjoy automatic discounts on fuel, tires, hotels, and more with the WEX EDGE savings network.

SECURITY

A good fleet card will require identifying information from drivers, allowing managers to track spending and prevent misuse.

Most fleet cards can help you control your budget by setting spend caps and purchase limits to certain dates or times.

INSIGHTS

Businesses should seek fleet cards that come with powerful fuel management tools that can help find opportunities to reduce spending and identify purchasing anomalies and misuse.

The best fleet cards will provide automatic accounting and expense tracking - no more chasing fuel receipts and manual bookkeeping!

A good fleet card will offer easy reporting that can be turned into actionable insights and potential savings for your business.
